Office of the Attorney General

State of South Carolina

Opinion No. 84-31

March 22, 1984

1 The Honorable Richard W. Riley

Governor of South Carolina

State House

Post Office Box 11450

Columbia, South Carolina 29211

Dear Governor Riley:

You have asked whether the offense of extortion, prohibited by 18 U.S.C. § 1951, is a crime of moral turpitude within the meaning of Article VI, § 8 of the South Carolina Constitution; this provision authorizes the Governor, in his discretion, to suspend public officials upon indictment for crimes involving moral turpitude. From our examination of the indictment you have submitted to us and other general authorities, we conclude that the offense mentioned is a crime of moral turpitude. Circella v. Neelley, 115 F.Supp. 615, (D.C. III. 1953) affd., 216 F.2d 33 (7th Cir. 1954), cert. den., 348 U.S. 964 (1955); State ex rel. Okl. Bar Assn. v. Hall, 567 P.2d 975 (1977); 23 A.L.R. Fed. 480, pp. 539-540. See also, Libarian v. State Bar, 239 P.2d 865, 866 (1952); In Re Disbarment of Coffey, 56 P. 448; 35 C.J.S., Extortion, § 1. Accordingly, you are authorized under state law to suspend the person in question, but such suspension is within your discretion and you may or may not do so as you see fit. Op. Atty. Gen., July 23, 1981; February 6, 1980.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours

T. Travis Medlock

Attorney General
